

I support RM-10787 and the elimination for the requirement to pass a morse code test to operate on Amateur Radio HF Frequencies. I have been a Amateur radio operator since 1982 and currently hold a Extra class license.

I do not support any change in the Amateur Radio license structuring, the FCC should retain the license upgrade procedure and classes that we have had for amateur radio for the last 50+ years. It is in the best interest that amateur radio operators continually upgrade their skills through learning electronic and operating knowledge for the safety of the general public and overall technical knowledge of the Amateur Radio Service license holders.
